ArborClimb Tree Services from Keene were at the Library last week to begin tree removal/pruning as part of a Library project to reduce shading of the south side of the building and increase air flow. Several of the trees were found to be diseased or dead! The goal is to reduce the negative effects of tree growth over the roof and moisture on the building. The Library is also exploring the possibility of creating an outside area on the Slip Road side for Library programming and patron use. ArborClimb will be back on April 9th to finish the job before leaves come out. Logs were donated to the GIVers Woodpile annual project for conversion to firewood for residents in need. Great teamwork and collaboration by all involved.

In other news, voters added $54,000 to Warrant Article #8 at Town Meeting. This article was originally written to contribute $40,000 to the Fire Rescue Apparatus Capital Reserve Fund in 2018. A total of $94,000 was added to the fund as a result of an amendment that received strong support from voters at Town Meeting. This was a result of a long discussion about the need to acquire a Tanker truck for the Fire Department. The Selectboard is hard at work looking at the options. Stay tuned for more information and thank you for supporting the Greenfield Fire Department.

GREENFIELD HISTORICAL SOCIETY

COMMUNITY SUPPORT FOR THE WAR EFFORT

By Lenny Cornwell

As the Museum concluded its exhibit commemorating the hundredth anniversary of World War I, it was interesting to note how all of the townspeople, not just the soldiers, became involved in the war effort.

A previous article has already highlighted the Liberty/War bonds sold by the government to fund the participation of the United States in this war. Victory Bonds, became available after the war. To ensure that our country's banking system was not jeopardized, the interest rates on the Victory Bonds was lower than those of the banking institutions. At the end of the war, the U. S. debt exceeded 25 billion dollars.

Children became important in the support system back home. President Wilson instituted the formation of the United States School Garden Army. The slogan for this endeavor was "A Garden for Every Child. Every Child in a Garden". The U.S. War Department was responsible for the curriculum for the young gardeners. In addition to supplementing farm produce, it was deemed appropriate for the young to also be aware of the growing cycle and to become responsible citizens. Additionally, a poster has been discovered encouraging boys and girls to "Join a sheep club" since it took "twenty sheep to equip and clothe each soldier".

Meanwhile, the Woman's Land Army of America brought more than 20,000 women to work on the farms to replace farmers that had been called up. The majority of the women had never done farm work, but quickly learned how to plow, drive tractors, plant, and then harvest the crops. These "Farmerettes" received a salary commensurate to their male counterparts and were also guaranteed an eight hour work day. For many, women in pants were a shocking sight! Women were also deployed to factories and offices. Some became heavy work laborers utilized in such endeavors as ship building and stoking furnaces.

Research has also led to the discovery of a poster soliciting help in harvesting ice since ice was greatly needed to preserve food for the starving people of the world.

Greenfield had its own state appointed Committee of Public Safety, a chapter of the state Committee of Public Safety begun by Governor Henry W. Keyes, just prior to the beginning of the war. At least twenty-one men in town participated in the core group, and sub-groups involved in food production, conservation, distribution and state protection tapped more of the village's men.

In 1917, interest in forming a Red Cross chapter in town spurred fund-raising events to provide money for the Red Cross. A room in the Long Block across from the Common was donated by E.C. and W.L. Hopkins for the Red Cross to use as its town headquarters. The Greenfield Red Cross voted to outfit the town's soldiers with a kit consisting of a sweater, muffler, helmet wristers (a knitted cap) and socks.

As if World War I was not enough, the Spanish Flu epidemic took an estimated twenty-seven million lives worldwide as compared to the fourteen million lives from around the world lost during the war. Greenfield did experience casualties from the influenza outbreak. One family endured the loss of four sons from the flu. During the flu outbreak, whole families were quarantined if a member came down with the illness. By the spring of 1919, the epidemic had pretty much run its course.

The "war to end all wars" thus affected whole families, not just those serving in the military. Greenfield families did their part.

EVEN TOWN DEPARTMENTS CAN RECYCLE

From Old ....To New

A few months ago, Carol Burgess called and asked me if I wanted some cabinets that were dropped off at the Recycling Center. After looking at them, I determined they were still in pretty good shape, maybe a bit outdated, but still sound. So Carol held onto these for me for a few months while I determined where they could be used and where I could fit the project into my schedule. After a quick discussion with Todd at the DPW, we determined they were in serious need of storage/cabinet in the kitchenette area at the DPW. With the DPW staffs assistance, on a cold afternoon, these recycled cabinets were installed at the DPW. Now they are not perfect, may have a few imperfections, but didn't cost the town any money and serve the purpose very well. This project probably would have cost $700 if we had to buy new unfinished cabinets, paint and install them.

Another great example of how money can be saved is a project that was recently completed at the Recycling Center. Carol had asked if a cabinet could be built in her office that would help consolidate some of her storage. About a year ago, Carol and Bill had salvaged some  $\frac{3}{4}$ " plywood that was in good condition and basically cut to the width we needed to build the cabinet. In-between snowstorms one week, I picked up the materials at the Recycling Center and within a day had built her a cabinet that would hold her mini-refrigerator, file cabinet and microwave. This also gave her space to consolidate two other small cabinets in her office. These materials for this project were free other than a piece of pine that was purchased to trim out the cabinet for \$10. The cost to build a cabinet like this with new materials is right around \$250.

This is just one way we are doing our part to help save money here in the Town Of Greenfield. Thank you Carol and Bill for thinking of us when good, usable products come into the Recycling Center!

Barn Fire Safety Checklist

Mrs. O'Leary's Cow may have gotten a bad rap but the folktale reminds us fire safety is an important part of farm life. People, animals, and property are in danger when fire breaks out on the farm. Inspect your barn and outbuildings for fire hazards to reduce the risk of tragic loss.

- ✓ Heat lamps and space heaters are kept a safe distance from anything that can burn.
- ✓ Heaters are on a sturdy surface and cannot fall over.
- ✓ Electrical equipment is labeled for agricultural or commercial use.
- ✓ All wiring is free from damage.
- ✓ Extension cords are not used in the barn.
- ✓ Lightbulbs have covers to protect them from dust, moisture, and breakage.
- ✓ Damage is identified quickly and repairs are completed with safety in mind.
- ✓ Dust and cobwebs around electrical outlets and lights are removed.
- ✓ Oily rags are stored in a closed, metal container away from heat.
- ✓ Feed, hay, straw, and flammable liquids are stored away from the main barn.
- ✓ The barn is a smoke-free zone.
- ✓ Exits are clearly marked and pathways are clear.
- ✓ Fire drills are held frequently with everyone who uses the barn.
- ✓ Workers are trained to use fire extinguishers.
- ✓ Everyone in the barn knows personal safety is the first priority if a fire breaks out.
- ✓ Hazard checks take place on a set schedule.

Required Equipment

The following safety equipment may be required by local building codes and will help protect your barn. Install and maintain:

- ABC-type fire extinguishers near every exit and within 50 feet from any point in the barn.
- Fire alarm system
- Sprinkler system
- Carbon monoxide detection system

Talk with your local fire department to address safety concerns unique to your farm.

Go to www.nfpa.org/farms to learn more about fire safety on the farm.

FROM THE RECYCLING CENTER

One of life's treasured pleasures is officially here - SPRING!! The early flowers popping up and soft earth beneath our feet focuses us on warm weather projects such as spring cleaning. This is a good time of year to bring some useful items to the Mini Mall and Library. There are some items that require special handling such as Smoke/Fire/Carbon Monoxide detectors. Please see an attendant before leaving your unwanted items. We are ready and willing to assist you with your load.

We would like to thank everyone for your support at the Town Meeting. Your support of recycling gives us the incentive to work hard to make you proud of your facility. We are always networking for new ideas and items to recycle. We will do all we can to facilitate your visit and remember the policy of "QUESTIONS? - JUST ASK".

FYI

Americans throw away 2.5 million bottles every hour. Recycling a three foot high stack of newspaper saves one tree.

PERMANENT HOURS: Tuesday 8am - 4pm, Thursday 11am - 6pm, Saturday 8am - 4pm

HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE: Collections have started up again. Information sheets are now available. We will gladly help you sort your items and/or answer any questions you may have.

TAKE NOTICE: The DEA's "Take Back Day" for old/unused medications will be held on Saturday April 28th from 10am to 2pm. Locations will be posted after April 1st.

REMINDERS: We have copies of the recycling brochure and the Town Report if you are in need of one. Also, the Recycling Center is a great resource for posting upcoming events.

We look forward to seeing you soon
Carol Burgess and the Recycling Center staff.

SPEAKING OF CONSERVATION

The Greenfield Conservation Commission has lots to talk about this Spring.

First up, is the Pollinator Project which we hope will be of interest to virtually everyone in town and the region. Our plan is to do everything possible to support pollinators, the insects and birds which are responsible for pretty much one third of the food that we put in our mouths. Many of these little guys are in decline, and we're determined to make it easier for them to survive and hopefully thrive.

You are encouraged to join us at our next meeting, April 10 at 7 PM at the Town Office Building, when we will decide on actual projects that we all can initiate throughout Greenfield. We plan to plant flowers, and shrubs on various plots, and you are invited to do the same on your own property. Please come and learn how you can help in this critically important effort.

Commission member Candi Fowler has recently created a website featuring photos of wildlife taken here in Greenfield. You are invited to submit your own pics at <https://sites.google.com/view/greenfield-nh-wildlife/home>. The only rule is that the photo be taken in Greenfield.

Early in the morning on May 5, we will lead a birding foray right in the middle of town, in conjunction with our obligation to monitor the conservation easement that Jerry Adams placed upon his field, which we will access via the Emma Gipson Forest on Slip Rd. We'll gather at 6:45 AM and head out by 7 AM because that's when birds are most active. Bring binoculars, cameras, insect repellent, sunscreen, water, and sturdy footwear for this easy outing.

At 7 PM on May 30, please join us in the library's Wensberg Room to enjoy John Rockwood's presentation of Loons - Call of the Wild, a multi-media show about the majestic waterfowl which will soon return to NH from their winter at sea.

Our appeal for comments regarding our decision to suspend the annual Roadside Roundup resulted in a single response. If you'd like to weigh in on the future of this event, please contact Roger Lessard at 547-3204 or mtking@pobox.com.

Go peepers!
