PUT THE PRESSURE ON - CALL FOR DSL

DO YOU WANT HIGH SPEED INTERNET?

THEN THIS IS WHAT YOU NEED TO DO:

As we all know, Greenfield, NH was never contracted for cable or internet (high speed internet access).

In talking with Fairpoint Communications, it looks like they should be in Greenfield around September 2009. In a phone conversation with a Fairpoint Communications Engineer, we explained that we do not have any cable here and only limited DSL. She advised us that if the residents of Greenfield contact her directly, she will put everyone's name on a list and forward it to the "powers that be," to see if we can get the time frame for DSL moved up sooner.

PLEASE, if you are interested in being able to access DSL for fast internet service for work and play, please contact the woman below and put your name on the list. There is also a website we found to add your name on also. Please do both. Thank you.

Call: Kamilya Napoli at 595-1134

And, add your info to the website also at: <http://iwantmybroadbandfromfairpoint.com/>

TOWN-WIDE ASSESSMENT UPDATE

The town's assessors are now in the process of updating values for each property in Greenfield. State law requires that assessments in each municipality be brought to market value as of April 1, at least as often as every fifth year. 2009 is that year for Greenfield.

It's very important to note that even though each property owner will receive a notice with the preliminary new value, these new values will not be implemented until the second and final tax billing for 2009. State law stipulates that the first bill shall be computed by taking the prior year's assessed valuation times 1/2 of the previous year's tax rate (taking into consideration any physical changes to the property since the prior year's assessment). That means that the tax bills that are mailed in June will use last year's assessed value times 1/2 of last year's tax rate. The new values will be used along with the 2009 tax rate, as determined by the State of NH, Dept. Of Revenue to calculate the final bill in November. As is normally the case, the second bill will be adjusted to reflect the amount billed in June.

NEXT SPIRIT NOT MAILED

The next issue of the Spirit will not be mailed to save money. Some of you responded to our query in the last issue but it was a draw as to how you feel about it. Consequently, we will put out copies at Delay's, the Recycling Center, and the Town Office for those who would like to pick it up. It will also be on the town website for you to look at and if you want it mailed to your home, you may subscribe at the resident rate of $4.50 a year.

WOMAN'S CLUB NEWS

MARK YOUR CALENDAR

On April 14th at 7:30 the Greenfield Woman's Club and the Greenfield Historical Society are co-sponsoring Rebecca Rule, noted New Hampshire humorist, at the Meeting House. If you have never heard Rebecca before, you need to be sure to come. If you have heard her, just wanted to let you know the date and time as I'm sure you won't want to miss her. Her program is entitled "Better Than a Poke in the Eye". Refreshments will be served after the program.

In March the Woman's Club brought Nancy Cowan, a licensed falconer, to our elementary school to teach the students about birds of prey. Also in March scholarship applications were put out for the $750 book scholarship given by the Club each year. This scholarship is given to a graduating senior in high school who is a resident of Greenfield and going on for further education. Applications may be obtained from the Conval Guidance department, Delay's Harvester Country Store, and Stephenson Memorial Library.

The Greenfield Woman's Club has been in existence since 1921 serving the elementary school and the town. If you would like information about the Club and/or membership, call Carele Mayer (President) - 547-2258.

TRAILS ASSOCIATION NEWS

Greenfield, NH has an extensive multi-use trail network which has been in development for many years. The Greenfield Trails Association, created several years ago, maintains this development and as many of you know, as the snow melts and green returns to Greenfield each spring, we never know how our trails have held up after a long winter of snow and ice.

This year we know we have had a very tough winter and the infamous ice storm, that created so much excitement during December, has left our trails with virtual mine fields of broken branches, deadfalls and in some cases entire trees.

The Greenfield Trails association invites our entire community to pitch in to clean up our trails on several fun filled days of community service, showing your kids there is more than Xbox and Nintendo DS to add excitement to each day and add a little healthy spring air to those winter doldrums we all feel after months of endless snow, freezing cold and ice that never seems to end.

For those who are interested please join us on the following dates at John & Denise Hopkins's home (6 Hopkins Lane, Greenfield, NH):

◆ Tuesdays April 7, 14, 21, & 28 at 5:30 pm for a couple hours of cleanup followed by dinner.

◆ Saturday May 9: 9am. FULL Day of trail work, followed by full moon bike ride and party! All moms invited; give yourself the ultimate Mothers Day gift with a lesson in Chainsaw Safety.

◆ Sunday May 17: 10 am. Full day of

-- TURTLES.

Time to take your bird feeders down! Remember, hanging feeders are a magnet for bears and other animals. There is plenty of natural food for birds now, and they won't be traumatized by the removal of your feeder.

Don't let your cats and small dogs run loose - predators are out, and they are hungry! Many times folks think - wow! It's spring! If you think it's safe to let your cat out, IT'S NOT. If you love your pet and don't want to agonize about what became of him/her, keep your pet safe.

The ASPCA reports that the top ten substances that poisoned animals in 2008 included human medications, insecticides and rodent bait, and certain house plants. For more, check ASPCA - <http://www.aspc.org>

GIVERS' CORNER

THE GIVers' MISSION: To build - through fund raising and volunteering - a partnership with the community of Greenfield and to assist the community in meeting its needs.

LOOKING FOR A HOOT! HERE'S ONE FROM THE GIVers!

OUR GREENFIELD COMMUNITY ORGANIC GARDEN GROUP invites you to come on down to your Town Office ball field this summer get some sun, and grow your own. With a food supply that is trending only more and more "local", now's the time to get reacquainted with where your food comes from. What better way to start than to join us and grow some yourself?

Last year we decided to take the plunge ourselves. First, we got the Board of Selectmen to grant us long-term use of the old Town Hall ball field (Great sun!). Then we constructed five 3' x 8' raised beds. Below are shots of us building the first beds (left) and tending the beds after planting.

Even though we started a month late in the growing season, we still hit the jackpot, producing a bumper crop of tomatoes, lettuce, mizuna, green beans, cucumbers, basil, cauliflower, summer squash, and chicory.

OK, we proved that we could do it. Now, how about you? Maybe you lack a suitable space at home? Maybe you have too much shade to be able to grow as much as you would like? Maybe you need advice and hands-on guidance from more experienced gardeners? Or, maybe you're just looking for a chance to grow delicious food while getting some exercise and spending time socializing with friends?

If any of these "maybe's" ring your bell, come join us. We are ready to get you going with a great plot for a very nominal outlay. We think that we've got a great deal!

To join up, just fill in the tear-out agreement form on the opposite page and send it to our point person, Diane Boilard, at the given address. Or, for more information, you may call Diane at 547-6662. We hope to welcome you on board for a delicious and productive summer!

EXTRA! EXTRA! On Wed May 6 at 6:30 PM - all are invited to the last of our Spring Gardening talks in the new basement room of the Stephenson Library: Subject: How to make your own fertilizer (Compost).

Plus great refreshments!
We hope to see you there!

Greenfield Community Organic Garden Agreement, Guidelines and Rules

1. I agree to pay a yearly membership of $5 as my support of the community garden.
2. To receive the exclusive right to use a wooden sided 4' X 8' raised bed, I agree to pay a one-time fee of $50 to cover the cost of materials. This entitles me to the use of the bed for as many years as I desire to garden in it. This right to use is non transferable.
3. The exclusive right to use a 10' X 20' unimproved garden plot is available at no cost to members in good standing.
4. I understand that this is an ORGANIC garden and agree to NOT use chemical fertilizers, insecticides, weed herbicide or genetically engineered seeds/plants within the community garden area. The term chemical refers to anything that is not organic. Examples of chemicals are Miracle Grow and Roundup. If you are unsure of a product, please ask. Most organic products are marked "ORGANIC".
5. I agree that the garden produce is primarily for home consumption.
6. I agree to keep weeds in my garden site and pathways adjoining my site to a minimum.
7. I agree to NOT leave tools, equipment or personal item in the garden.
8. I agree to NOT establish any plants that are invasive such as mints, raspberries and bamboo. If in doubt, please ask.
9. I agree to participate in the fall cleanup of the garden.
10. I agree to NOT plant tall crops where they will shade neighboring garden sites.
11. I understand that NO fencing will be allowed other than to support plants in my garden site.
12. I agree that any guest(s) or child(ren) I bring to the garden will NOT intrude, impact or interfere with the enjoyment of other gardeners. Children will be under control at all times.
13. I agree to NOT bring pets of any kind into the garden.
14. I agree to inform the garden committee if at anytime I am unable to maintain my garden plot or decide to discontinue to work my garden plot.
15. I understand that breaking the rules, terms or conditions of the community garden agreement can be cause for exclusion from the garden and the loss of my garden plot.
16. I understand that neither the garden committee nor the town of Greenfield are responsible for my actions.

I THEREFORE AGREE TO HOLD HARMLESS THE GARDEN COMMITTEE AND THE TOWN OF GREENFIELD FOR ANY LIABILITY, DAMAGE, LOSS OR CLAIM THAT MAY OCCUR IN CONNECTION WITH THE USE OF THE GARDEN BY ME OR ANY OF MY GUESTS.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY NEWS

One advantage to having a collection is that sometimes it is very handy to have. During the December, 2008 power outage I was able to utilize a few items that were just hanging around.

The old percolator coffeepot, milk pails, and an old iron runner sled from my childhood were very handy. Hauling water to use in the toilets was made easier with milk pails and plastic buckets. The coffeepot on the wood stove was a very nice luxury, too. Meals were heated or cooked on the wood stove as well. The sled was handy hauling wood up from dead trees I cut. Some of the wood was split using a steel wedge and a sledge hammer. Cut to wood stove lengths I could load it on the sled and drag a sled full of wood right into the house or barn to unload it.

Having the roads open allowed us to leave for drinking water and groceries during the eleven days of no power at our house. It certainly is great to have a store in the village.

I enjoy history very much, but, as I told my wife "I was not meant to live in the early 1900's." Having a fondness for our 21st century pampered lifestyle.

Growing up with the wood heat and a wood cook stove at our farm was a way of life for us. My mother did have an electric roaster oven to use, then a toaster and a hot plate. An indoor bathroom came in 1963. No more outhouse on cold winter days, So at least when you turned on a faucet or a light switch, something happened. No such luck during a power outage. Lighting candles and lugging water is not my idea of fun. Some people do enjoy the simpler, unplugged time though. I guess it gives a better understanding of how people lived a century ago when it was normal living.

On the evening of April 14th please join us for Rebecca Rule at the Meeting House. We and the Woman's Club will be presenting her. Her program is very humorous and very enjoyable. There is no admission for this program. There will be light refreshments served. A short Historical meeting will held prior to the program at 6:30 p.m. The program will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Our May business meeting will be our annual election of officers, followed by a program on Covered Bridges by Glen Knobbloch sponsored by the NH Humanities Council. There will be no admission to the program. Meeting at 6:30 p.m. and the program starts at 7:00 p.m. the Meeting House. There will be light refreshments served after the program.

Our June 7th Historical Fair, this year, will be held at the Greenfield Historical Society Museum on Forest Road. This will give people a chance to see our nice facility and displays. Also we will have a conceptual drawing of where the barn will be built some time, in what we hope will be the near future. We are hoping to have an appraiser present, along with a few demonstrations. On display will be various item from the Museum. The time will be 10 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WETLANDS part II

In the last issue of the Spirit, wetlands habitat was defined and described. In this installment, wetlands as a concept will be defined, and the importance of conservation.

DEFINITION OF A WETLAND

There are many different ways of describing what a wetland is. Generally, it is agreed that wetlands are areas that are both terrestrial and aquatic - where the land is saturated with water, often with fresh water, and a wide variety of unique species have adapted to live in these ecosystems. Because there is such a broad definition for wetlands, it is easy to find them throughout the world. Wetlands also have very "hydric" soils, which means that some, if not all, of the oxygen is absent in the soil. They can be found on six continents: North America, South America, Africa, Europe, Asia, and Australia; and they make up close to six percent of the land on Earth. Not only are wetlands located in a great many places, but if rice paddies were also considered as wetlands - and they are by some definitions - they could be said to feed about half of the human population in the world.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WETLANDS - UTILITY AS WELL AS ETHICS

Wetlands are environments rich in biodiversity, which means that there a large variety of species within each of these ecosystems. Due to the fact that much of the soil in wetlands is lacking the proper nutrients required by most organisms, the species that do inhabit these environments have found ways to adapt and are very different to organisms found in other ecosystems.

One can realize the significance of wetlands in a variety of ways, but specifically through one of three ways: absolute value, intrinsic value, or utility.

ABSOLUTE VALUE

Something that has absolute value is something that cannot be harmed in any way - there is no justification for harming something with absolute value.

Some environmentalists and activists would argue that wetlands have absolute value: that it would be absolutely wrong to harm these areas in any way. These people could justify this belief by explaining that to destroy these areas is to destroy innocent, rare, and often endangered species. Often, though, it is easier to justify the intrinsic value of wetlands rather than the absolute value.

INTRINSIC VALUE

Intrinsic value is inherent value - something with this type of value has value for "its own sake." This means that it is usually considered wrong to harm something with intrinsic value, but not necessarily unjustifiable.

Wetlands have intrinsic value for many different reasons. The biodiversity of wetlands could be considered important for other ecosystems as well as simply beautiful, and therefore, wrong to destroy or damage.

One philosopher and environmentalist who does an amazing job describing the intrinsic value of wetlands - from a mostly aesthetic point of view - is Holmes Rolston III. He goes into depth explaining the beauty and functionality of wetlands as well as describing how the species there have adapted and each has its own niche. This natural beauty should be preserved due to its intrinsic value described by Rolston.

Wetlands can be also said to have intrinsic value because they have a major impact on the species which inhabit them as well as other species (through connections such as the food chain). Another intrinsic value is that humans want to preserve these areas for future generations - they should be conserved so that future generations can see their beauty or still be able to value them for their utility.

UTILITY

Not only do wetlands have intrinsic value and can be said to have absolute value, but they also are pertinent from a utility point of view. This means that they are useful for humans and should be preserved so that they will continue to be useful in the future. This is the same concept as sustainability. Sustainability is the concept of using materials that can be replenished, so that they can be used for generations to come. We can make regions of biodiversity sustainable by not using the resources they provide too often and by allowing them to be replenished.

Wetlands are very useful: they provide such things as "improved water quality, groundwater recharge, shoreline anchoring, flood control and...a diverse variety of fish, wildlife, and plants." The utility of wetlands is another important reason for them be preserved or at the very least be allowed to remain sustainable.

DEVELOPMENT ON OR NEAR WETLANDS THE ISSUE OF DEVELOPMENT

Despite the recognition of wetlands' importance, they are still disappearing - being used, developed on, etc. Although land is always wanted and developers try to find open places to build, one needs to realize that wetlands have values that are reasons for not developing on near them. The construction has a deep impact on the surrounding land - many species native to wetlands die out due to the loss in wetlands over time.

Some economists and developers have accounted wetlands as "disamenities" due to the fact that they sometimes cause unpleasant odors and annoyances from species living there - particularly from insects and other animals. However, economists realize that wetlands have many amenities - probably more than disamenities - as well. Such amenities include providing a nice view for home owners and creating a "buffer" zone from pollution and noise as well as providing wildlife enjoyed by homeowners.

The issue of development still remains, however. Many companies do not care about the amenities the wetlands provide - they often simply want a large amount of land to build on and often this is too near to a wetland. Arguments and issues of how close one can build near a wetland also come into play: how close is too close? Is there a way to develop and still not impact these biodiverse areas too dramatically?

THE FUTURE

Fortunately, many people are realizing the importance of preserving regions such as wetlands, whether it is for ethical reasons or reasons of utility. If we continue to become more aware of why it is important to conserve and what actions can be taken to do so, we can perhaps sustain the environment for the future. Hopefully we can all learn the importance of protecting the wetlands and environment as a whole and find a way to keep wetlands around for our descendants. GCC

POWERED BY ALIENS
FROM MARS™

*You can actually fix that?
Yes I can. It will take a few hours and be almost as good as new. Please ask to see my portfolio!*

Want to look good for less? - - in your ride, that is? Call the Man from MARS- Alan Easton. He'll push and pull, patch and paint until those nasty scratches, dents, chips and tears disappear.

Here is what a recent customer had to say: "I was ready to pay a body shop $1700 for a long scratch and dent in the rear fender of my Volvo. Not only did Alan do those repairs, he repaired a split in my leather seat. He did this all for $600, saving me at least $1100. When I traded the car, no one could tell any repairs were ever done."

Bob Martin-Rindge, NH

Saving money and saving the environment are big on every ones mind today. I can be your one stop shop for both. I can save you money and together we can help save the environment!

Consider for a moment the Windshield in your vehicle. Did you know that windshield glass is not able to be recycled? The Boston Globe reports that annually 11 Million Windshields are replaced nationally. At approximately 25 lbs. each, that equates to over 275 million lbs. of waste per year. It takes 15.2 million BTU's of energy to produce one ton of glass. By repairing your windshield before it needs to be replaced helps save the environment. Oh yeah, I can do it for free if you have comprehensive insurance. Visit booth #59 at The Home Show, Cheshire Ice Arena, April 3rd, 4th, and 5th.
