HISTORICAL SOCIETY NEWS

SCHOOLS, Part III

Continuing with our focus on the school system, we learn from the town history that the population of 1810 was 980. Following this peak of 980, the population declined and by 1900, there were 605.

A lot of the young people, up to the age of 21, attended school, particularly in the winter terms. Although attendance through the age of 21 may seem surprising, this was done as a way to compensate for missed terms throughout the years. Continuing in such a fashion allowed the students to progress further in the basics. In 1852, 300 students were enrolled in Greenfield's schools. By 1870, only 140 were enrolled. The drop was due to the westward migration of families to place such as New York, Ohio, and beyond, in the search for better farmland.

Towns then saw the need to consolidate schools: "Students could walk or ride a mile or mile and a half to school." Also, with consolidation, three or four teachers, instead of eight or nine, could be employed. Consolidation was seen as a way to save costs - of teachers, buildings, and heat.

By 1878, discipline was addressed by the superintendent. The reason - the lack of corporal punishment. "Are we raising better men and under the present lax methods of discipline than we raised under the austere methods of our fathers?" was the issue of concern.

The infraction of whispering corresponded to today's texting by students. Whispering was viewed as a problem in the classroom. Those who never whispered were listed in the school report. Lack of parental interest surfaced as a concern back then as well. Parents were encouraged to stop by some time in the school year.

Truancy was another concern. In 1899, a Truant Officer was appointed in an attempt to boost attendance. Weather, bad roads, epidemics and probably farm work all contributed to tardiness or not showing up at all at school.

After 1879, New Hampshire women could vote at school meetings and serve on school boards. Greenfield had several women who served their town in such a capacity from 1895 onward.

In late April, the Board of Directors held a Recognition Supper to honor the young construction workers from the Conant/ConVal Building Trades Program and others who supported the barn raising with "hands-on" expertise.

On June 2nd, 2012, you will have another opportunity to tour the barn during the Society's annual "Open House". Once again, there will be a Flea Market on the grounds, opening at 9 AM. Adele at 547-3403 is taking care of the details for that. The "Open House" portion extends from 10 AM til 2 PM.

Our Tractor Raffle is in progress for the 1941 Allis Chalmers C tractor donated by Carl Ingelstrom. This antique tractor is still operable! Tickets may be purchased for $1 each or in bulk at 6 tickets for $5. These will be available at the June Open House, at the Museum during the last Saturday of the month open hours, from Board of Directors members (Diane and Lennie Weeks, Jane Winslow, Adele Hale, Dale Russell, Frank Shea), by mailing your money to the Greenfield Historical Society at P.O. Box 316, Greenfield, NH, or by calling Lenny at 547-2198. The drawing for the tractor will be held at the October 20th Railroad Show.

All Aboard! The Second Annual Railroad Show sponsored by the Greenfield Historical Society will be on October 20th, 2012, of this year. The show will run from 9 AM to 3 PM. Once again, Dale Russell (547-3377) and Frank Shea (547- 2181) will coordinate this fun-for-the- whole- family event.

Finally, the Museum is open on the last Saturday of each month from 11 AM - 1 PM. Stop by; you'll be amazed at what you find. Or call either Lenny (547-2198) or Jane (547-2759) to arrange to visit at another time. Jane is the person to contact regarding your membership.

RECYCLING CENTER NEWS

A new access road to the Recycling Center was opened in early May. This new road does not change the flow of traffic; it is still a one-way traffic pattern around the building. This means entering and exiting the same direction as before.

Please remember there are fees associated with the disposal of certain items. Methods of payment are; cash, check and punch cards.

Summer Hours: Thursday's hours are the only hours that have changed for the summer. As of April 1st they changed to 1 - 7 pm.

Here are a few facts:

It takes 5,000 plastic bottles to make a 500 # roll of carpet.

China has been the biggest buyer of our cardboard.

Recycling 1 plastic bottle powers a 60w Compact Fluorescent Lamp for 9.8 hours.

The amount of energy it takes to produce 1 aluminum can using virgin ore is the same amount of energy it takes to make 20 recycled cans.

Other Information of Interest: The dates for the Household Hazardous Waste Collections in Keene are available at the Recycling Center.

A few quick reminders:

MINI MALL. Thank you to those who have voluntarily organized the mini mall. Your efforts are noticed by all who frequent it. Broken glass and sharp knives were again discovered in several boxes on the floor - REMEMBER that small children love to pick through the boxes. Your attention to safety is appreciated.

USED OIL: Any oils that are contaminated with antifreeze, water, gasoline, sludge or other contaminants are NOT accepted at the Recycling Center. I can also burn kerosene, diesel fuel, hydraulic and transmission oil in addition to motor oil. Your uncontaminated

CONSERVATION TRACKS

News of Conservation Doings

About the Greenfield Conservation Commission (GCC)

GENERAL INFO

Generally, the GCC meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month at 7:30 in the Town Office building. Want to make a difference? Come and join us!

What is a Conservation Commission? According to the 2004 Handbook for NH's Municipal Conservation Commissions, it "...is the only local body specifically charged with protecting natural resources; it provides a focal point within the municipal government for environmental concerns. Without a conservation commission, other boards may or may not be aware of and consider natural resources in carrying out their responsibilities."

Roadside Roundup

Our annual Roadside Roundup was a great success again! Also, it was terrific to partner with the Planning Board to share the photos of folks' vision of Greenfield. This is an important part of learning how people feel about their town, and that information feeds into the Master Plan, which the Planning Board is starting work on now. As always, thanks to the Woman's Club for their great contribution - the Ham and Bean Supper! What would we do without them?

Focus on...Land Conservation

NH Coverts Project - Volunteers Working for Wildlife

The New Hampshire Coverts Project trains volunteers to promote wildlife habitat conservation and forest stewardship. The NH Coverts Project is coordinated by UNH Cooperative Extension.

Each September, twenty-five landowners and conservation-minded New Hampshire residents gather with a team of natural resource professionals at a rustic camp. For 3 ½ days, participants learn about the latest concepts and issues in wildlife and forest ecology, habitat management, land conservation, and effective outreach.

In exchange for the fall training (meals, lodging, and materials are paid by program sponsors), participants agree to return to their communities and motivate others to become stewards of the state's wildlife and forest resources.

Why is it called "Coverts"? A "covert" (pronounced "cover" with a "t") is a thicket that provides shelter for wild animals. Modeled on similar Coverts Projects in other states, the name of the NH program symbolizes the Project's focus on wildlife habitat.

Space is limited - apply today! You'll be glad you did. To learn more:

Greenfield

Lots of folks want to keep Greenfield rural. One way to do that is to place parcels of land in conservation easement. Several landowners in Greenfield have already done just that.

Have you ever wondered what is entailed in placing your land under easement? Contact a member of the Conservation Commission or, the Monadnock Conservancy to discuss it. It's all up to you! 357-0600 - <http://www.monadnockconservancy.org>

The Carbee Farm (adapted from The Monadnock Conservancy Spring Newsletter)

This much-beloved, 65-acre farm on East Road is slated for conservation easement this summer. It includes 53 acres of forest, 12 acres of open fields (including a Christmas tree farm) and 2000+ feet of frontage on Rand Brook, a pristine tributary of the Piscataquog.

Placing this stunning property under easement will forever protect water quality, wildlife habitat, and a rural way of life. There are plans to create a riparian buffer along Rand Brook, which will allow the adjacent hemlock stand to eventually become old growth, enhancing the clean water that feeds the river. Managed forest will provide a place for a great diversity of wildlife.

The plans for this easement are at a critical juncture. The Monadnock Conservancy is leading the charge, as they have for other easements in Greenfield, and they need your help to raise the final $85,000.

Donate online at:
www.MonadnockConservancy.org, where you can specify "Carbee project" during the payment process.

Of course, printing and mailing the Spirit is an expense for the town, so we have decided to make it possible for non-residents to buy a subscription to the Spirit. Residents may also subscribe so that they may have the Spirit mailed directly to their homes.

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

The cost for a one year subscription to the Spirit is $6.00 for non-residents and $4.50 for residents. Please send this form and a check made payable to the Town of Greenfield to: The Spirit, Town of Greenfield, PO Box 256, Greenfield, NH 03047.

The Spirit may also be found on the Town website at <http://www.greenfield-nh.gov/> in PDF form.

Master Plan Update

The past six weeks have been busy ones as the Planning Board has collected data from three different activities in hopes of getting a broad cross section of resident's views of how development should proceed in the near future.

Survey

Beginning at Town Meeting on March 17, 2012 the Planning Board passed out written surveys to those in attendance. Surveys were also available at the Harvester Market, Stephenson Library, Town Offices and the Greenfield Post Office. Within two weeks over 133 residents had responded; 77 in written surveys and 56 through our on-line version on the Town website. The difficult task of compiling the written surveys and synthesizing results with those of the on-line surveys was completed and that information was provided to Southwest Regional Planning Commission, our consultants, in early May. Those results are available on the Town website and at the Town Offices.

Photo Shoot

Beginning on March 24, seventeen volunteers participated in a photo shoot of things they liked about Greenfield, things they disliked and things they thought were at risk. For two weeks a diverse group of volunteers, ranging from a resident of Greenfield Commons to students from Greenfield Elementary and South Meadow schools, among many others in between, trekked about Town trying to find just the right shot. By the first week of April, they turned in their work. Working in collaboration with the Conservation Commission's Roadside Round-up on April 21, the Planning Board held a meeting following the Thank You dinner provided by the Woman's Club at which SWRPC Senior Planner Lisa Murphy presented the results of the project. Six different posters were prepared to share the views. Those posters were on display for a few weeks at the Stephenson Memorial Library in May.

Roundtable

The last step in the process of collecting data for the "Vision" took place on Saturday, April 28th. Over thirty community members participated in an hour and a half deliberation of what our goals should be. Divided into three teams with Lori Dumaine-Weeks, Candi Sawyer and Gil Morris as facilitators, residents wrestled with a list of fifteen value statements. Weighing the costs and benefits of each, they arrived at the top five value statements they felt should be used to guide development in town for the near future. A description of the activity and a chart of their findings is available on the Town website and at the Town Offices.

Using this input and working with Southwest Regional Planning, the Planning Board is developing a draft of the Vision statement for our new Master Plan. Watch for notices of public meetings when the new draft is ready for consideration. Be sure to check out the Planning Board page of the Town's website to see meeting minutes and agendas of upcoming meetings. Remember, all Planning Board meetings are open to the public.

None of this would be possible without the generous contributions of many of our fellow citizens who took time out of very busy schedules to participate. The collaboration of community groups like the Conservation Commission, Woman's Club and Stephenson Library, as well as the Greenfield Post Office, all helped in the venture. The Planning Board extends its thanks to all.

Info & Tips on Pets, Wildlife and Eco Issues by Janet Renaud

Pets

Top 10 Tips for a Lifetime of Good Health for Your Pet

1. Spay or Neuter: These safe procedures help your pet avoid cancer, reduces aggressive behavior and keeps your pet from roaming.
2. Vaccinate: if you want your pet to live a long, happy life, vaccinate your cat against feline calicivirus, rhinotracheitis and panleukopenia, as well as rabies; dogs can be protected against distemper, leptospirosis and parvovirus (and rabies, of course).
3. See Your Vet! You go to the doctor regularly-and so should your pet.
4. Fight Fleas: But do it safely, please! These little pests can cause big problems for your pet.
5. Prevent Heartworm: It's difficult to treat and sometimes fatal, but heartworm infection is easily prevented. Your dog should be given a blood test for heartworm every year in the early spring.
6. Get Moving! Not only will daily exercise keep your pet physically fit and mentally healthy, it helps channel aggressive and destructive behavior.
7. Battle the Bulge: Not enough exercise and too much food will cause any animal to gain weight-especially pets, who rely on you to regulate nutrition and activity levels.
8. Do a Weekly Health Check: Regular home checkups are a great way to nip potential health problems in the bud. Plus, they're as easy as one, two, three:
  - a. Check under your pet's fur for lumps, bumps, flakes or scabs.
  - b. Check your pet's ears and eyes for any signs of redness or discharge.
  - c. Make note of any changes in her eating or drinking habits. If something seems off, call the vet.
9. Memorize the ASPCA's List of

Foods to Avoid - go to ASPCA.org
10. Don't Forget Your Pet's Teeth: Check your animal companion's teeth and gums at least once a week.

Other Pet Notes

- Can you make the grade as a responsible cat owner? If so, contact Kitty Rescue & Adoption in Jaffrey (<http://www.kittyrescueandadoption.org>).
- For all types of pets, visit "our" animal shelter is the Monadnock Humane Society in Swanzey: <http://www.monadpets.org> or 352-9011
- All dogs in Greenfield must have a license! If yours doesn't, contact the Town offices.
- You may qualify for financial help for spaying or neutering your cat or dog! Call Toll Free 1-800-990-SPAY

Wildlife

Reminder - it's Turtle Time! (May-June). Female turtles are crossing the road, seeking higher ground to lay their eggs. Please avoid hitting them and if possible, you might want to help the turtle cross the road - but remember always to move a turtle in the direction she is headed. If she is moved back to the side she came from, she will just try to cross the road again. Turtles are often seen laying eggs on the soft shoulders of roads. The best thing to do is to leave them be!

Do you have empty tubs in your yard that fill up with water? That's mosquito heaven! Dump 'em out!

Have you ever been to the State's wildlife site? It's got so much info, I can't believe it:

<http://www.wildlife.state.nh.us/Wildlife/wildlife.htm>

Selected nature observations by the week - adapted from Northern Woodlands

- June - week 1: Unlike most birds, catbirds sing at night. Their song is quite beautiful, unlike their meowing call.
June - week 2: Female hummingbirds are building their nests of bud scales, the inside lined with soft plant down.

June - week 3: Fox kits begin to tag along on their parents' hunting trips.
June - week 4: Ebony jewelwing damselfly adults fly wherever there are slow-flowing, shaded streams.
July - week 1: Bees, wasps, moths and butterflies are drawn to the almost overwhelming fragrance of milkweed.
July - week 2: By now, milk snakes have laid 5-24 eggs. They'll hatch from late August through October.
July - week 3: Cedar waxwings feed their young mostly on fruit, but will also take caterpillars.
July - week 4: Virgin's bower, a high-climbing vine found in moist areas, is flowering now.

Eco Tips

When you take your week off, don't go - stay! You can get a season pass (<http://www.nhstateparks.org/explore/visiting/seasonal-pass-options.aspx>) and visit state parks for canoeing and kayaking, swimming and hiking. There are so many places to hike and bike, who needs to go far? We live in (arguably) the most beautiful part of the state (but I'm a little biased!) Pick up Nature Hikes in Southern New Hampshire by Sherman and Older, and also the AMC "Quiet Water" canoeing guides. It's less than an hour to our biggest state park, Pisgah in Winchester - one of the most under-utilized parks in the state. Remember, people come HERE to VACATION!

And...there's plenty to do right here in town! We are so lucky to live where we live. Just taking a walk around town is a pleasure (and great exercise!) We have a town park (Oak Park), a state park (Greenfield State Park) and the northern entrance to the Wapack National Wildlife Refuge That's also the start of the 31-mile Wapack Trail - think you can do it?!?! I did it in chunks spread out over three weekends. Greenfield has three lakes, Powder Mill Pond, and public trails that go up North Pack and Crotched. What more do you need?
